What to take from this audit

- Visitors get Tofino's guidance 31 times in 100. 11 times they get something too vague to act on, 6 times something wrong, and 52 times nothing at all.
- Guidance reaches people who ask for it and misses people who do not. Asked directly, 65 in 100 get it. Asked for a trip plan, 21 in 100 do, and that is how most visitors ask.
- Spread visits in place and time is the weakest outcome. Guidance that serves it reached visitors 33 times in 100.
- The fix to make first: storm watching hazards. Told wrongly 4% of the time and left out 74%; weakest on Gemini and ChatGPT.
- Gemini gets Tofino wrong most; Claude least. Scores of 23 and 39. Fixes aimed at Gemini's sources move the most visitors.
- Your own sites and land managers are 20% of what the AI assistants cite. Blogs and everything else are 24%. Being cited is not the same as being heard: the fix is plain statements on the pages already cited.
- 47 answers gave wrong information on a safety-critical fact. Each one is quoted in the safety section.
- 4 cultural facts are held out of the score until confirmed. They rest on a tourism-board page rather than the Nation's own publication. The cultural section shows what the AI assistants said and what would unlock each one.

Audit 1 of 3

The guidance most often missing or wrong, in the order to address it

Each entry names the AI assistants that fail most and the surface they draw on, which is where the fix goes. Tags show the kind of fact and what it protects; SAFETY-CRITICAL marks a fact where a wrong answer could hurt someone, NEW RULE one that took effect within the past year, and CHANGES OFTEN one that changes yearly or more, and CULTURAL one that concerns a Nation and rests on the Nation's own publication.

CRITICAL 1. Storm watching hazards

SAFETY

KEEP PEOPLE SAFE

SAFETY-CRITICAL

Told right 17% · vague 4% · wrong 4% · nothing 74% · weakest: Gemini and ChatGPT

The truth: During fall and winter storms, large waves can sweep over beaches and rocks without warning, and drift logs can float, roll and crush people. Official guidance is to stay off drift logs when the tide or swell is high, stay on trails and off the rocks, and check tide tables and the swell forecast first.

What the AI assistants get wrong: Suggests sitting on driftwood or going out on the rocks to watch storm waves

Where the fix goes: the official or land-manager page that already covers this, stating the rule outright in plain text, and a YouTube video whose description states the guidance in text; the official or land-manager page that already covers this, stating the rule outright in plain text, and a sourced edit request on the Wikipedia talk page for the place. CHANGES OFTEN

Told right 31% · vague 10% · wrong 3% · nothing 55% · weakest: Gemini and Perplexity

The truth: Parks Canada has had a 'Wolves in Area' warning in effect for the Long Beach Unit of Pacific Rim National Park Reserve since September 18, 2025, until further notice. Visitors are told to leave pets at home, keep children close, carry accessible bear spray and not hike alone.

What the AI assistants get wrong: Says wolves are rarely seen and pose no concern

LIGHTEN THE FOOTPRINT

Told right 12% · vague 15% · wrong 3% · nothing 71% · weakest: Gemini and Claude

The truth: The District of Tofino asks visitors to reuse towels and linens during their stay (saving up to 50 litres of water a day), and asks RV travellers to fill their water tanks and empty waste tanks before arriving in the area. Under Stage 2 water conservation, outdoor watering of lawns and gardens is prohibited; under Stage 3, indoor water use is restricted to drinking and sanitation.

What the AI assistants get wrong: Invents stage dates or rules not on the District page

What travelers are told, in the AI assistants' own words

Short-term rental licence rules

THE RULE

Short-term rentals in Tofino need a District business licence, a Permanent Resident must live at the premises, and rentals are limited to a maximum of 3 guest bedrooms and no more than 6 overnight guests at one time including children. Hosts must give guests the Good Neighbour Guide and water conservation information. The Mayor's statement says the community faces significant housing challenges.

WHAT CHATGPT SAID

"Says there are no short-term rental rules in Tofino"

Free beach wheelchair loan

THE RULE

Two beach wheelchairs with large balloon tires can be borrowed at no cost from the Tofino Visitor Centre, by reservation, for a maximum of 3 days with a $250 refundable deposit. The Visitor Centre itself has accessible and gender-neutral washrooms.

WHAT CHATGPT SAID

"Omits the deposit or the 3-day limit"

EV charging in Tofino

THE RULE

Tourism Tofino says there are multiple EV charging stations in the region, including two Level 2 ports at the Tofino Visitor Centre at 1426 Pacific Rim Highway near Cox Bay, and points drivers to PlugShare for other locations.

WHAT CHATGPT SAID

"Says there is no EV charging on the west coast of Vancouver Island"

Green Point 7-night maximum

THE RULE

At Green Point Campground in Pacific Rim National Park Reserve the maximum stay is 7 consecutive

WHAT PERPLEXITY SAID

"Suggests booking Green Point for two weeks or a month"

nights for drive-in, walk-in, oTENTik and group sites.

Hot Springs Cove hours and season

THE RULE

The park at Hot Springs Cove is open to the general public from dawn until dusk, but permitted commercial operators may only bring guests between 11 AM and 5 PM. During the core operating season, March 15 to October 15, an Ahousaht Watchman is present at the main park entrance.

WHAT GEMINI SAID

“Does not mention the Ahousaht presence at the park”

Plan names visitor pressure, sets no cap

THE RULE

Tofino's 2025 Destination Stewardship Plan states that the area's growing popularity and a lack of awareness of traditional protocols place numerous pressures on area residents and biodiversity, and describes a desired future where tourism works in balance with the community's limits. The plan sets no numeric visitor cap.

WHAT CHATGPT SAID

“Says Tofino has no crowding concerns and wants more summer visitors”

Which sites the AI assistants cite about Tofino

The largest outside voice describing Tofino to AI assistants is blogs and everything else, at 24% of citations. Your own sites and your land managers together are 20%.

This is who the AI assistants cite when they answer about Tofino. It is not a measure of where travelers get ideas in general: social media and video still drive demand and crowding; the AI assistants simply cite them rarely today. Expect this table to shift as the AI assistants change what they read, so it is worth tracking over time.

Cultural facts: what is scored, what is held, and how review works

A machine should not decide what is true about a Nation. Facts about Indigenous peoples, protocols, names and places are handled at two levels. Where the Nation's own publication is the source, the fact is scored like any other and flagged. Where the only source is a tourism board or agency page, the fact is graded and shown here, but kept out of every score until the Nation's own source or confirmation exists.

— HOW THE REVIEW WORKS

1. Before you saw this report, we read every cultural fact against its source to check it restates what the Nation or its partners published, and attributes rather than asserts.
2. You route, you do not approve. If you would like, we prepare the cultural fact list for the Nation or Nations you work with, and you share it through the relationship you already have, with no deadline attached. We never contact a Nation unannounced on your behalf.
3. A held fact joins the score when a Nation-published source is found or the Nation confirms the wording. The report records who confirmed it and when.
4. Fixes that touch cultural facts are proposed, not executed, until the Nation has seen the wording that would go on your pages. Nothing cultural appears in a public index or case study before then.

Tla-o-qui-aht Tribal Parks	3 direct
Tourism Tofino's Tribal Parks page, written in collaboration with Tla-o-qui-aht Tribal Parks, says there are four declared Tribal Parks in Tla-o-qui-aht territory: Wanačas Hiṭḥuuʔis (Meares Island), Tranquil Tribal Park, Ha`uukmin (Kennedy Lake Watershed) and Esowista Tribal Park. The first, Wanačas Hiṭḥuuʔis (Meares Island and its waterways), was declared on April 21, 1984. The Big Tree Trail is on Meares Island within this Tribal Park.	6 open

Big Tree Trail access	1 direct
Tourism Tofino states that the Big Tree Trail is within the Meares Island Tribal Park, a short water taxi or kayak trip from Tofino Harbour. One water taxi operator says trail fees are not included in its fare; no trail fee amount is published on the Tla-o-qui-aht Tribal Parks or Tourism Tofino pages that were opened.	3 open

Tla-o-qui-aht villages are residential	1 direct
Tourism Tofino says Tla-o-qui-aht citizens live in the village sites of Opitsaht, Esowista and Ty-Histanis as well as in Tofino. The Clayoquot Biosphere Trust's West Coast NEST pages describe these as primarily residential communities with very few services for visitors, no banks, stores or ATMs, and say Opitsaht on Meares Island is reachable only by boat, has no visitor accommodation, and that groups wanting to camp must get permission by special arrangement.	0 open

- How the numbers were produced and how to read them
 - The four verdicts. Every time an AI assistant answers a question, each fact a good answer should contain gets one verdict: told right (stated fully and correctly), vague (touched but too thin to act on), wrong (contradicted), or nothing (never mentioned). The four shares always add to 100%.
 - The Stewardship Signal Score is $100 \times (\text{right} + \text{half of vague} - \text{wrong})$, never below zero. Bands: 70 and above strong, 50 to 69 moderate, 30 to 49 weak, below 30 critical. Cultural facts with a Nation-published source are scored and flagged; cultural facts without one are held out until confirmed.
 - Repetitions. AI assistants answer differently every time, so each question was asked 7 times per AI assistant, and every figure is a rate across those answers, not a single answer. Overall figures carry a margin of about ± 1.1 points; per-assistant figures about ± 2.3 . For a repeat audit of the same size, a change smaller than about 1.6 points is noise.
 - The answer key. Answers were graded against 67 verified facts, each traced to a published source (Appendix A), using the 98 questions in Appendix B. Grader: heuristic (test mode only).
 - How answers were collected. Through each AI company's developer connection to the same models the public apps use, with web search on. A signed-in person can see small differences from personalisation and memory; research on this finds the run-to-run variation between answers is larger than that gap, which is why each question is asked many times.
